

*Hark! hark! hark! the vesper bells pealing now softly along;
Hark! hark! hark! on the evening is stealing the mariners song.*

THE MARINER LOVES O'ER THE WATERS TO ROAM,
A DUET
Composed by ALEXANDER LEE.

BOSTON.

Published by OLIVER DITSON, 135 Washington St.
B.W. Thayer & Co. Lithography.

THE MARINER LOVES O'ER THE WATERS TO ROAM,

Composed by

ALEXANDER LEE.

ANDANTE QUASI ALL?
1st VOICE. p f
The Mariner loves o'er the waters to roam,

2nd VOICE. p f
The Mariner loves o'er the waters to roam,

PIANO
FORTE. p
o'er the wa-ters to roam, While he thinks on the groves of his o'er the wa-ters to roam, While he thinks on the groves of his own na_tive home----- of his own na_tive home. Hark! Hark!

Hark! the Vesper bells pealing now softly a_long; Hark! Hark! Hark! on the Evening is stealing the Mariners Song. p Soft----ly Soft----ly

Evening is stealing the Mariners Song. p Soft---ly Soft---ly steal...ing a...long pp Soft...ly Soft...ly is Soft...ly a...long pp Soft...ly Soft...ly Softly is

pp

stealing the Mariners Song. Ah! he loves the Moonlight shining over the deep, ad lib:

stealing the Mariners Song. Ah! he loves the Moonlight shining over the deep, ad lib:

shining over the deep, When the land's out of sight and the world is a sleep,

shining over the deep, When the land's out of sight and the world is a sleep, and the world is a - sleep. Hark! he's cheerily singing while gli...ding a-- and the world is a - sleep. Hark! he's

-long And the winds are now bringing the Ma...ri...ners

cheeri - ly singing the Ma...ri...ners

Song.... Hark! he's cheerily cheerily singing while gli...ding a--

Song.... Hark! he's cheerily cheerily singing while gli...ding a-- ...long, And the winds the winds are now bringing the Ma--ri--ners..

...long, And the winds the winds are now bringing the Ma--ri--ners..

pp
Song, the Ma-ri-ners Song, the Ma-ri-ners Song, The winds are now
pp
Song, the Ma-ri-ners Song, the Ma-ri-ners Song, The winds are now
pp

ad lib:
bringing the Ma-ri-ners Song....
bringing the Ma-ri-ners Song....